A Woman's initiation into society —
to what's going on to right now . . .

Freshmen Arrive . . .

They came — 155 strong — eager to enter the hallowed halls of dear old Bennett. It was a small place — easy to become a part of the happenings. There was the obvious need to make an impression — to let the upperclassmen know that this was no ordinary green group. They were scholars, musicians, dancers, and leaders. There was so much to do and so little time to experience every new development. The choice had to be made for each — involvement or apathy from the very first day.

ORIENTATION TO A NEW WAY

... The Bennett Way. The opening of school had excitement and work for the new Belles who had elected to join in the experiences of Bennett Womanhood. From the lined up traffic of cars to the slow walking of weary parents to the chatter of new friends it all began. It was the first step in the initiation process.

ACADEMICS

Hours of Books, Papers, Studying

The academic scene was characterized by a more flexible curriculum, new programs in Business Administration and Social Welfare, and re-evaluations of the existing curriculum. It was the year of AID, computer instruction, inter-disciplinary courses, and Co-operative Education. It was the realization of some goals and the changing of others. It was examinations, test tubes, microscopes, typewriters, lecturers, sewing machines, music

- Academics, the development of more than mind power.
- So much to do and so little time to do it.
- The realization of some goals and priorities. The changing of others.
- Too little serious concern, occasionally a spark of interest.

Science Division

The Science Division was the site of much activity. Interesting developments occurred in Mathematics as computer instruction gained in popularity; in Physical Education as students participated in professional meetings; in Chemistry and Biology, as professors and advanced students engaged in top level research. Home Economics students participated in their traditional fashion shows; engaged in homemaking at the Home Management House; and prepared delicious treats in the Nutrition Lab.

However, the addition of more young men into the classroom situation was considered the development of the year. More than ever before, did Greensboro students take advantage of the cross-registration at area institutions.

More Coeducational Classes

UPPER: Clothing instructor Gwendolyn Sneed discusses a class project with senior Joanne Blackstock. LOWER: Mrs. Booker opened exciting avenues of learning in the Foods Lab as she stressed more class projects, the Christmas Luncheon, and student demonstrations.

Education Majors Gain Experience

The year for the Education Department was a demanding one. One grew weary to hear the very mention of competency-based education, teacher evaluations, and media education.

For seniors it marked the culmination of three years of preparation only to be marred by a shaky economy and the reports of teacher surpluses in some areas. Then for nearly a semester they experienced writing hundreds of lesson plans, planning bulletin boards, answering the many "whys and hows" of energetic children, grading papers, PTA's, and early breakfasts.

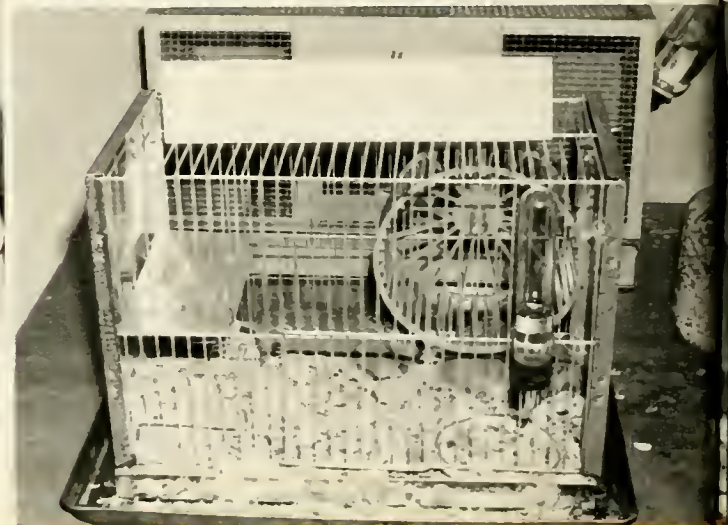

Some persevered, somewhat more nervous and irritable. Others decided that they would certainly seek other employment first. Yet, indeed it was a learning tree and an initiation into the real world of work.

Individual Study—

A commitment to get the job done for one's own development.

Taking time out from the pressures.

Initiation into the professional world.

STUDENT LIFE

Doing things, going places, making friends, learning. Being responsible makes the hassle worthwhile.

Residence Life

A routine —

Home away from home

Making new friends

Having more responsibilities

The average day —
Learning, creating, competing
A personal moment, a shared experience
Doing what seems natural.

TOP: The SnackBar offered more than a place to purchase the little extras needed to make the day, but was also a source of campus employment. LEFT: Some of us worked as library assistants. RIGHT: Pastimes included the Valentine Party for the Children's House which was sponsored by the English Majors.

Time Spent With Friends Helped to Relieve the Pressures.

ABOVE: Nicki Woods relates the "mix up" of her most recent social engagements to excited friend.

Members of the Faculty Influence Our Experiences

The English Majors Gave a Party . . .

. . . and the children enjoyed it. There were cupcakes, valentines, and candy for the little tots in the Children's House. While being entertained by the English Club, the children were treated to a special story about the origin of Valentine's Day by Cynthia Woodruff. While parents and teachers looked on, refreshments were first sampled, shared and then finally eaten. Each had his own way, some slower than others. Wearing their big Valentine name tags the Children House Darlings became part of another campus experience.

Physical Ed majors learn by doing . . .

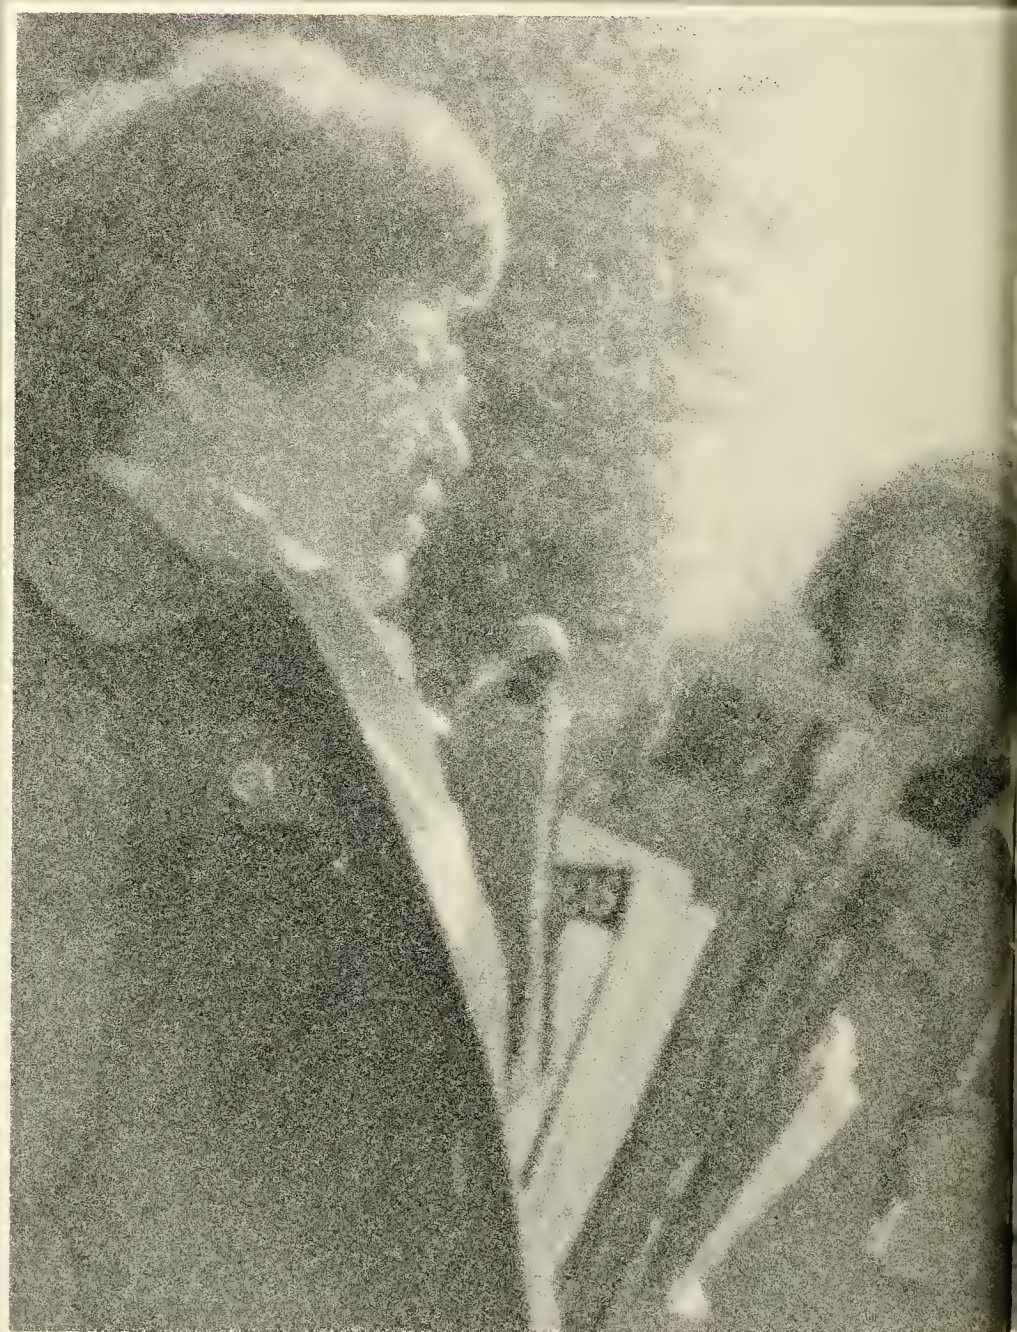

An added dimension to the experience of students in the area involved developing the coordination and motor skills of young children through planned activities. During the first semester students worked with the children from the campus kindergarten.

Student life —

FEATURES

Receptions, Luncheons and Dinners

And we ate, sipped, and talked as receptions, luncheons, and special dinners were held. From the Freshman Reception to the Senior-Alumnae Reception, we were hurried through receiving lines — shaking hands and smiling, pressing onward until the smiles became glued to our faces.

The luncheons whether for visiting lecturers, trustees, or honored students were welcomed changes from the routine. The special dinners were quite different from these in the past as buffet lines became the vogue. Then we prayed that they would not run out of food. And once they did —!

Informal gatherings offered a chance to interact and develop new attitudes.

The Living Madonnas

The theme for this year's presentation was "Original Madonnas Created By the Arts Department of Bennett College." Special scenes were created by students Thorna Humphries, Michele Crosby, Michele Grandison, Belinda Defoor, Jackie Jones and Tsedale Mulugetta. It was a joint effort of music, art, drama, and clothing personnel.

Morehouse Glee Club Visit Adds Sparkle

The fall Morehouse Concert featured classical, pop, spirituals, and folk songs. However, the highlight of their visit was not the concert which was good, but the socializing before and after.

Workshops, Symposiums, Seminars . . .

Freshman Studies Provides "the answers"

The Freshman Studies Center organized many activities for new Freshman students during the school year. Among the most interesting of the activities were morning seminars which ranged from a Fashion Show presentation which featured many freshmen to a discussion of "Bennett College — Yesterday," by alumnae who are on the staff.

The Freshman Studies Center instituted many stimulating and informative presentations. It helped the students to make decisions about their future careers and to prioritize personal values.

Enriching Experiences

Health Specialists Encourages Students To Pursue Health Careers

Three women medical specialists participated in the Health Careers Institute. They discussed careers in veterinary medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy. Participants were Dr. Alfreda Webb, veterinarian and Biology professor; Dr. Joyce Reese, dentistry; and Miss Annie Washington, pharmacist. Students interested in medical careers also had lunch with the participants.

Religious Emphasis Week Opened Our Eyes and Hearts

During the hustle and bustle of the Spring schedule of activities we paused for spiritual enrichment. Several days of activities, our traditional "Religious Emphasis Week" was held during the week of Lent. Members of the campus community worshipped and communed in the Chapel. The Communion Service and the Sunday Vesper symbolized a time to reflect our purpose on this earth.

TOP: Dr. Major Jones, president of Gammon Theology School, delivered Communion to students, faculty and staff. LEFT: Barbara Butler shares ideas with Rev. Howard Chubbs, the Sunday Vesper speaker.

"Womanpower" Opened Our Eyes To Life

"Womanpower," a five-weeks series of public forums made us realize who we are and what we should be about. New ideas and much interaction occurred between the guest speakers and those of us "who dared to question them" after each session. Even the experiences of the one male, Atty. Walter Johnson, Jr., made us realize that black women have always been strong in the face of overwhelming odds as he admitted that strong black women shaped him into the person he is today. The program utilized panel discussions, debates, group discussions, and guest speakers. The issues involved economic, political, social, moral, and aesthetic concerns. Some of the participants' statements remained with us:

"All of us should become allied with the women's movement because it is fighting and dealing with a common problem faced in the civil rights movement, OPPRESSION."

Ms. Patricia Callair
NOW

"Strive for excellence while you are here at Bennett. Go to those math classes and discover your reasoning capabilities. Be determined to be the best in whatever you attempt and learn the system."

Atty. Walter Johnson
Board of Education

"We not only must exercise leadership when given the opportunity, but we must also be alert to detecting opportunities for leadership. If we don't detect such opportunities, we have to create them in organizations whereby we will have the opportunities to show them our capabilities as leaders . . . I think so often many of us walk into something and right away we think things are going to happen, but nothing happens out of ignorance. Even your revolutionaries are pretty smart and they have a sound knowledge of how the organizational structure operates."

Dr. Frances Logan
A. & T. State University

"I am a woman, a traditional housewife and I make no apologies for this. I need a husband to love, a baby to hold, a meal to cook. I also address myself to issues that concern the family, the home, education, welfare, and nutrition — For I, a woman, have a unique and pulsating individuality separate from man. For I know that what has too long been forgotten is that the ultimate economic and spiritual unit of any civilization is still the FAMILY. I, a woman, have the power to keep this foresight visible."

Mrs. Effie E. Miller
Bennett's First Lady

Participants in the forum of on social issues were (l. to r.) Mrs. Mae Sue Henry, Greensboro City School System; Dr. Doris Stoneburner, Guilford College; Mrs. Henry Frye, discussion coordinator; Mrs. Effie E. Miller, housewife; and Mrs. Frances Logan, A. & T. State University.

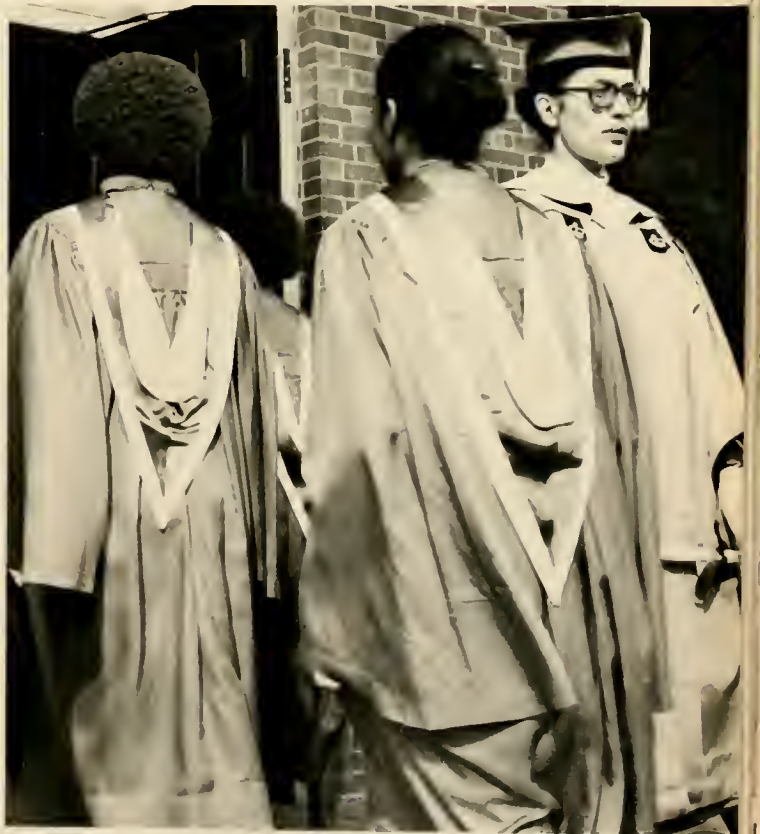

FOUNDERS' DAY

Malaysian Ambassador Guest on Campus

The celebration of Bennett's founding remains a very important tradition at the college. Guest speaker for this year's event took on an international flavor. He was His Excellency M. Khir Johari, Ambassador of Malaysia. Having been met at the airport by college administrators and community leaders, the ambassador urged the continuing of good relations between his country and the United States. The college, carrying out Malaysian themes, had erected a special exhibit on Malaysia and had invited Malaysian students to the campus to meet the ambassador. A special documentary movie was shown in Black Hall. After the Sunday morning service, the ambassador was the guest of honor at an International Dinner with Bennett's foreign students and SGA president at the home of the President.

Bennett's Mallika Maniam was honored to meet the Ambassador of her home country. A Guilford College student was also on hand. (Below) Mrs. Streat, the Marshal, waits as the choir enters the chapel.

"Gigi" A Success

"Gigi" by Anita Loas received good reviews. The play, a lighthearted and funny love story, is about a lively french girl who suddenly turns into a beautiful young lady. Under the direction of Dr. Fred Eady, the play was short and fast-paced. Leading the cast in the title role of Gigi was Geneive McCormick; her mother was played by Linda Crawford who cracked up the audience with her sexy outfits and facial expressions; Renee Carrington as Gigi's coquette aunt; Norma Jeffries, the maid; Cassandra Jones, the grandmother; Eric Miller, the handsome wealthy suitor; and Keith Miller, the stiff butler.

Other Productions

TOP: An unusual production "The Cage" was presented by a group of ex-felons from San Quentin who attempted to depict the realities of prison life. The participants also held seminars during the classes. BELOW LEFT: "Old Times" a drama by Harold Pinter, dealt with the bare facts of life. Three people meet after a long spell and began to discuss the past until they began recalling a very frightening experience. Stars were Don "Earl" Webster, Norma Jeffries, and Cassandra Jones. BELOW RIGHT: Don treated us to "A One Man Show: My Way" which left the entire audience spellbound.

It has been a very active year with the traditional Christmas Candlelight Service and the annual Gospel Extravaganza. Performances at local churches have proved without a doubt, that the choir was composed of talented young women, who were eager to serve and entertain the community.

The Spring Tour which covered a two week period, March 8-22, 1975 was filled with excitement and was a wholesome learning experience. In spite of sore throats, an extra pound or two and weary nights, the tour was a success. Over a two week period, the 39 member entourage performed in Delaware, Virginia, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan. We were housed by Bennett Alumnae in many of the areas visited, and received warmly wherever we stopped.

Undoubtedly, the most memorable stop was in Detroit, Michigan. During the two day stop-over, we toured Detroit, including a visit to Belle Isle and the Flower Conservatory. Climaxing the tour was a brief drive into Canada. In Maryland, ironically, the Morehouse College Glee Club gave a concert just two blocks away from our concert site. However, a few of us managed to arrange a little fellowship gathering.

This year will definitely remain in the memories of all of us, because right from the start, success was our theme and excellence our goal! The year ended with Senior Recitals and the Spring Concert.

Joyce Bass Reports On The Choir's Year

Tavares! Tavares!

All of a sudden WEAL announced "Tavares! Tavares at Bennett College!" We were shocked. No one knew what was going on. But it was a pleasant surprise, one we accepted with mixed emotion. But on the night of the show we were overwhelmed by the talented group. The gym rocked with "mind blowing soul."

Filling Out The Calendar of Activities

Everyday has a featured event. In each of our lives we experience what to us is unique, whether it be in the office, going through an interview, or performing for a church activity.

Joanne Blackstock, a Clothing and Textile major from Mt. Vernon, New York, exhibited her interest and enthusiasm for others throughout the year. A member of Swing Phi Swing Social Fellowship, she donated a great deal of time to the Sickle Cell Anemia Drive. Joanne proved her versatility during the Spring Home Economics program as a designer and photographer.

There is a quiet, gentle air about Esther Canty that makes her a truly genuine friend. A history major from Sumter, South Carolina, Esther served as Vice President of the Student Government Association and is a member of Delta Sigma Theta. While also being a consistent honoree for her academic achievements, Esther paced the basketball team and regularly scored in double figures.

Who's Who

Witty and spirited are the only words to describe the talent that has been exhibited by Renee Carrington, senior Social Welfare major from Washington, D. C. She has appeared in such drama productions as "Gigi" and "The Owl Killer" and is also an active member of Young Social Women, Inc. and the Ebony Club.

Besides having a warm and quiet manner, Agnes Duncan's ability as an excellent swimmer was exhibited this year by her performance in the "Water Ballet" during the Humanities Festival. As a Psychology major in the Interdisciplinary Studies Program, her talent and brains will take her far in the world. Agnes resides in Chicago, Illinois.

Bonita Chavis — this name will long be remembered in the minds of many music lovers. A music major from McLeansville, North Carolina, Bonita has served as President of the MENC and has participated in such organizations as the Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society, the Concert and Gospel Choirs, the College Band and the Opera Workshop. She has been sponsored by many groups in private concerts and will continue her experience in Nashville, Tennessee as a musician in OPRYLAND for the summer of '75.

A History major from Wilmington, North Carolina and an active member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Sandra Johnson showed a sincere interest in others. As counselor in Barge Hall, she was always there to lend a helping hand when needed.

Robin Jones, a native of Hampton, Virginia distinguished herself by working with the Recreation Council and for her academic achievements. She is also a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Easy going, friendly and always willing to help — these are the characteristics which describe Deborah Lundy, a junior from Macon, Georgia. The pre-med student is a member of the Senior Honor Society, the Beta Kappa Chi Honor Society and Delta Sigma Theta. She was the recipient of the Fisher Scholarship in Medical Technology in 1974. Deborah exhibited much leadership ability during the school year and was selected editor of the year-book for 1975-76.

With a smile on her face and a sparkle in her eye, junior Edeline Miller exhibits a genuine warmth. A Medical Technology major from Greensboro, North Carolina, she is an active member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, the Science Seminar, and has been an honor student since coming to Bennett as an early entrant.

Always lively and smiling, Yardley Nelson, a native of Buffalo, New York was an Interdisciplinary Studies Major with a concentration in English Education. She has given many hours of hard work to earn her commission in the U. S. Air Force as one of the first Bennett graduates to do so. Yardley was active in the English Club, the Communications Club, the Concert and Gospel Choirs and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

A pre-westernized foreign student from Nigeria, Rita Nzeribe desires to be a doctor and eventually work in her mother's private hospital. She is a member of the Beta Kappa Chi Honor Society and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. An avid sports enthusiast, she is presently learning the game of golf. Rita is highly respected by her fellow students because of her unceasing energy and spirit.

Christine Ofoma is a beautiful and reserved young woman whose magnetism attracts people to her. An Interdisciplinary Studies Major from Nigeria, Chris' concentration is in the area of Art. Although she is an honor student, she will also be remembered as "Our Krispy Kreme girl".

Gentle as a lamb and always demonstrating that genuine concern for others, Mary Sneed proved that sistership is a deep concept. A Special Education major, she is a member of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. An accomplished poet around the B. C. campus, Mary resides in Bethel, North Carolina.

Reba Turner, a Mathematics major from Atlanta, Georgia, proved that women can work with the complicated network of computer technology and math and be successful. A NASA scholarship winner in 1974, Reba is always seen heading in the direction of the Computer Center. She participated in the Pre-Alumnae Council, several honor societies and graduated with honors.

Soft and womanly are two words which pretty much describe Angela Wilson. A native of Greensboro, North Carolina, Angela chose Clothing and Textile as her major. However, she is pretty nifty with the camera, also. Last year she received a cash award for her outstanding service at the Guilford Courthouse National Park.

Glenda Sprueil Simmons and Linda Sprueil both proved that brains and beauty go "hand in hand". As proven scholars, they shared in departmental honors by receiving the highest award given by the Business Department. Linda and Glenda have been honor students since their freshman year.

Zeta Xi Tutors Youth

Upholding the idea of public service, the sorority tutored elementary school children at Murphy School. It was a challenging experience to try to gain the confidence of the children and to show them that there are people who care about them beyond their families.

Under the guidance of their advisor, Miss Dorothy Harris, the group decided to show that there is more to a sorority than pledging and singing.

Dr. Tipton Joins Administration

Harold E. Bragg
Dean of Student Affairs

Dr. Chelsea Tipton has completed his first year in "a heated inferno of change." Staffer Joyce Bass interviewed Dean Tipton and discovered that his initiation into the Experience was truly a "learning tree."

Q. What was your most important priority for this year?

A. One of the first and most important things for any new Administrator to accomplish is to gain a clear and precise understanding of the institutional system.

Q. What changes have occurred in the organizational structure?

A. The reorganization of the faculty communication system has resulted in a greater flow of information between students, faculty, administration and staff. The academic structure has evolved from a divisional structure to one composed of twelve departments under a three-division system.

Q. Why was such a change necessary?

A. This provides for interdepartmental development and insures more departmental responsibility for program evaluation and control. The twelve department heads must now take the lead in planning under the direction of Division Directors.

Q. We are hearing more and more about faculty development. What is it?

A. Every member of the faculty is being encouraged to work toward strengthening themselves in ways which will enhance institutional growth. They are being urged to obtain their terminal degrees and to take advantage of workshops and other internal means of strengthening their productivity.

Q. How has the faculty received the idea of further development?

A. It is most encouraging to announce that seven are working on their doctoral degrees, two received Ph.D.'s this school year, and two will return with terminal degrees in the fall. Forty-two percent of the current faculty has earned doctorate degrees. The faculty as a whole is very receptive to the idea of professional development.

Q. What has been the most significant and influencing development during this year?

A. With more emphasis being placed on curriculum content, the Advanced Institutional Development Program has been a source of inspiration and affords opportunities for improving administrative and academic programs.

Q. How does the Dean's Office view needed curriculum changes?

A. I am concerned with updating the curriculum and keeping it committed to relevant education of women in such areas as Women's Studies, Student Personnel Services, Communications Media-Public Relations, Computer Assisted Instructions and Continuing Education Program. Through intensive research I envision the emerging of many other areas of emphasis to enhance our Women's Studies Program.

Q. How would you rate your first year at Bennett?

A. It has been perhaps the most challenging and enjoyable of my eighteen years of professional work.

COMMENCEMENT

A Year of Firsts

The Commencement-Baccalaureate Exercise, held on the campus quadrangle, was a very emotional occasion for the 122 graduates. The guest speaker, Miss Ethel Payne, associate editor of Sengstacke Newspaper, urged the graduates to help bring the problems of the society to the forefront by organizing a major convocation with the black leadership of the country.

1975 marked the awarding of the first Bachelor of Arts and Sciences degree in Interdisciplinary Studies to twenty students and the commissioning of three Belles into the Air Force as second lieutenants.

Bennett Banner . . .

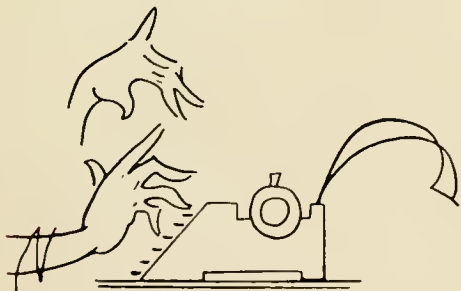

The Bennett Banner was reborn due to the determination of Chief Cheryl Johnson. It was she who decided that the campus needed a regular and informative student publication. The Banner has addressed itself to total campus concern. Under the advisorship of Dr. Virginia Tucker and with the enthusiasm of Joyce Bass, the paper is well on its way to becoming a worthwhile vehicle of campus communication. This year's paper has been characterized by humor, genuine concern, and forthrightness.

A Note of Appreciation

Putting the yearbook together was hard work and time consuming. It would not have been possible without the guidance of our advisors, Miss Myra Davis and Mrs. Audrey Franklin. Then we must recognize our photographers who made it all happen by being in the right place at the right time: Miss Davis, Cheryl Johnson, Ben Poole, and our dear Robin. We cannot forget you, members of the Bennett Community, who all came to our rescue when necessary.
